PUBLIC LEDGER

WEEKLY REPUBLICAN—1867.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER—1894.

MAYSVILLE, KY., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1906.

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

COUGH MEDICINE.

I had a little husband,
I never knew a worse,
For better than his wife or life
He loved his little parsee.
I did my best to wheedle him,
He saw my deep intent,
And though he had a chronic cough
He never coughed a cent.
So I sought a little lawyer,
My husband's owe close enemy,
And divvied with the man of law
My lawful alimony.
—Saturday Evening Post.

The Newell-Jannier wedding takes place this evening.
The local option election in Bracken county yesterday resulted in a majority of 596 for the "drys."

Mr. James Wallace has sold a six-months-old colt out of his thoroughbred pony to Mr. E. R. Davis for $100.

Wanted—A stout, intelligent boy, 16 to 17 years old, to work in printing office. Apply at once to THE LEDGER.

Church was assigned to the Pastorate of Shinkle Chapel, Covington, Saturday at Louisville had his left foot amputated, the result of an accident in a runaway near Glasgow several weeks ago, in which he sustained a fracture of the ankle.

Captain Frank Long Winn has been appointed Lieutenant-Colonel and Military Secretary on the personal staff of General MacArthur of the United States Army. Colonel Winn is the son of the late William Winn, formerly of this county and a member of the firm of Hord, Winn & Co., years ago prominent pork packers of this city.

The Men's Social Union of the Third Street M. E. Church will entertain with a big Halloween Social and Oyster Supper on the evening of the 31st of October. Extensive preparations are being made and it is expected that the men will more than duplicate the successful social given last year. Watch the papers for further announcements.

CASE CONTINUED AGAIN

Prosecutors Not Yet Prepared to Try Caleb Powers!

The case of the Commonwealth v. Caleb Powers was called in the Circuit Court at Georgetown yesterday morning by Judge Robert L. Stout.

On motion of Commonwealth's Attorney Robert B. Franklin, the mandate of the U. S. Court of the Eastern District of Kentucky was noted as filed September 4th, 1906, with the Clerk of the Scott Circuit Court.

The Commonwealth's Attorney stated that the Commonwealth had made no preparation for the trial at this term of Court, and the case was continued.

THE man who wants a change now will very soon want it back.

THE Judges of the Highest Court in Kentucky are so devoted to politics, that it was necessary to adjourn the Court in order that they might go home to register. However, old man CANTRILL was there already, never having done a day's service since he was elected nearly two years ago.

I HOPE that every reader of THE LEDGER will study carefully the article printed elsewhere, taken from The Courier-Journal, showing the need of a new system of taxation in Kentucky. This is a matter of far more importance than whether BECKHAM or MCCREARY shall go to the Senate, or whether PERCY HALEY or JEEMS CANTRILL shall fill the offices at Frankfort.

PHILADELPHIA is "slow" only in the eyes of envious neighbors. Her population is so remarkably free from the "scum of the earth" that she is universally known as the "only American city in America,"—a truth, however strange it may sound. With a population embracing one-sixtieth of the United States, she manufactures annually one-twentieth of all the factory products of the country—a fact that is alone due to the system of taxation which prevails only in that city. While Maysville can never reach the proportions of Philadelphia, the adoption of her tax system would soon fill the dear old town with factories.

IN The Louisville Police Court Judge McCANN declared that the law prohibiting barbering on Sunday was unconstitutional. In the meanwhile the "lid" is on the Maysville shaving shops, while the glasses tinkle freely in the festive saloons.

ONE of the prime causes of bank failures and defalcations is the negligence or lack of capacity of so-called Directors. Many Banks have a Board of Directors some of whom are mere "figure-heads," while others couldn't tell a sight draft from a hemp-hook.

ON the occasion of a recent accident on their line, the Pennsylvania Railroad officials, "following their customary policy of silence," refused absolutely to furnish any particulars of the disaster. In a case of this sort, the newspaperman is fully justified in making his account as "yaller" as the yellowist, not forgetting to charge the Railroad Company with deliberate and intentional neglect, and urging its prosecution at every point. As railroad managers are not supposed to invent accidents for the mere fun of the thing—for they are very expensive—when they do happen, there should be a law compelling officials to disclose all the facts for legitimate publication. It is such conduct as the above on the part of the Pennsylvania Company that has arrayed the public against the railroads—and very properly.

IRONICAL.

A leading American politician recently took his little son to Washington, where they paid a visit to the Senate gallery, says The Philadelphia Ledger. Dr. Edward Everett Hale specially interested the boy, and his father explained that Dr. Hale was the Chaplain of the Senate. "Oh! he prays for the Senate, doesn't he?" asked the lad. "No," said the politician, "he gets up and takes a look at the Senate, and then prays for the country."

COMBINATION SALE!

It is my purpose to have a combination sale of city property and farms on Wednesday, October 24th, 1906, beginning at the Court-house at 10:30 a. m., at which time the farm property will be sold and the program for the day announced.

One very important thing in order to have a successful sale is to have a good attendance of buyers. In order to secure this result, I will arrange for some good music and other attractive features. Ladies as well as gentlemen will be expected and provision made for their comfort. Transportation will be furnished for those who wish to visit the property, but this does not include children.

If you have property that you desire to sell at public auction this will be your cheapest and best method of doing so, as I pay all advertising and other expenses connected with the sale for a nominal fee for each piece of property listed for sale. In case of failure to sell, this is the only expense that you will have to pay. In case sale is made, my usual commission will be charged, minus the above fee.

I have attended some sales of property at public auction where the attendance was so small that no enthusiasm or interest could be aroused. By this plan, if your property has any merit, you may expect to have competitive bidding. Should you desire to take advantage of this opportunity to sell your property come to me at once in order that it may be properly classified and advertised. I expect to offer some very desirable homes and farms; also, some vacant lots. There is no doubt but what I can manage your farm property to good advantage, provided you wish to have it exposed to public sale.

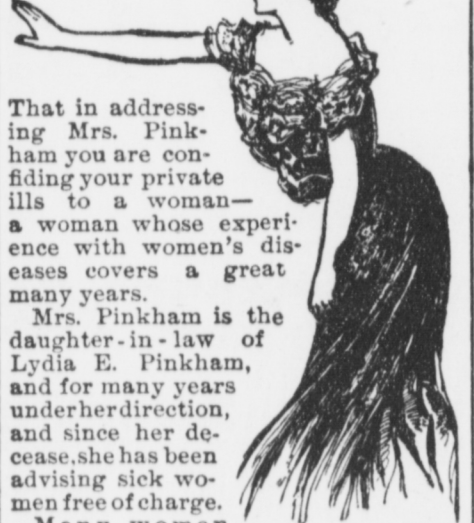

Shall be glad to have you call and get full information.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years under her direction, and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge. Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.
Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

Louisville Courier-Journal.

There has been so steady a growth throughout the state in the sentiment for a change in the tax system of Kentucky that sooner or later the change must come. The modification involves an amendment to the Constitution. The demand was so urgent at the last session of the Legislature that the Senate approved by a vote of 31 to 5 such an amendment. The House failed to reach a vote. But the subject is not dead, and from time to time the agitation will make itself felt and ultimately a new system will be provided. Men of all walks of life and dwellers in all sections of the state who have given the matter thought are impatient for a different plan. The feeling was manifested at the State Development Convention last fall, when a commission was appointed to lay the cause before the Legislature. State Senator Cammack, after gathering together revenue laws and financial reports of nearly every state and Territory, expressed his astonishment to find "that Kentucky possessed one of the crudest and most defective revenue systems of them all" and that "our laws relating to assessment of property and collection of taxes are abominable." Public opinion moving in this direction must in the end produce results.

A carefully prepared and illuminating paper on the all-important subject has been received by The Courier-Journal from Mr. William A. Robinson, who has devoted years to the study of the defects of our system. Turning to the census statistics, he finds that, notwithstanding Kentucky's boundless mineral and agricultural resources and splendid advantages as a producing community and market, the state is lagging behind states far less richly equipped. He gives the figures and percentages, but the statement of the fact is sufficient for the present article. Something, then, must be the matter. That matter he discovers, in common with others, to be the faulty and oppressive tax system prevailing in the state. "We are directly dependent," writes he, "for development upon an abundant supply of available local capital, and this we limit or repel by taxation in most of our Kentucky cities at a rate nearly equal to the prevailing rate of interest earned by capital in the great financial centers in the East, whence we must draw our increased supply of money." In Jefferson county, the most populous of the state, the county tax is 31 cents and state tax 50 cents on $100 of property. The largest city in this county. Therefore, a taxpayer in the corporate limits of the city pays 81 cents plus $1.80, which aggregates $2.61, on every $100 of property. The same triple system of making a rate is in vogue in every other city of the state. Moreover, industrial corporations pay to the state an annual "privilege" tax of 30 cents per $1,000 of capital employed; noninterest bearing deposits of cash in bank pay the triple rate on every $100; no deduction is permitted farmers, manufacturers or anyone else for indebtedness, such as mortgage notes, but all are taxed upon the valuation of gross assets, and Kentucky citizens are taxed by Kentucky on property held by them in other states.

Mr. Robinson, after examining the systems of other states, finds a number preferable to ours. He thinks Pennsylvania's the best. These he presents as its principal features:

No general property tax "at uniform rates." All property is classified, and within that class, tax is uniform, and no class is taxed more than once, state, counties and cities deriving revenue from different classes.

State imposes no tax whatever on farm lands or city real estate, but derives revenue from public corporations, personality—all bonds, securities, etc.—licenses, mercantile, Banks, etc. No tax on factories.

Counties tax farm lands, each county for its own local need. Allegheny county (Pittsburgh) rate is 2 1/2 cents on the $100, and repayment by state of certain portion of tax on personality, derived from that county.

Pittsburgh, city second class, taxes only real estate inside corporation limits, and grades in three classes:

Central, having all public utilities, at $1.30 on $100.
Suburban, having partial public utilities, two-thirds of this rate.
Outlying, having few public utilities, one-half. Add for schools 1 cent to 12 cents in respective districts, on $100.

And vehicles, horses, etc., using highways at $1.30 on $100, and this the only personality tax.

Philadelphia, only city first class, co-extensive with Philadelphia county, has the same plan as Pittsburgh, with graded classes.

And vehicles, horses, etc., $1.50 on $100 valuation and no other personality tax.

Cities receive back from the state a certain portion of license taxes collected in that city. In Pennsylvania, rates named include entire taxes upon the following classes:

Banks and financial institutions are taxed annually 1 1/2 on actual paid-up capital stock, or forty cents on $100 of assets (capital, surplus and undivided profits)—such has option of either plan.

Mr. Robinson points out that Philadelphia, with a population of one-sixtieth of the United States, manufactures annually one-twentieth of all the factory products of the country. She claims 1,000 jobbing houses doing an annual business of $500,000,000. As for banking capital, the state of Kentucky, with a population of 2,250,000, a vast area lying uncultivated, great natural wealth stored away and idle, all needing capital for development, has only $43,000,000 for use in her financial institutions. The city of Pittsburgh alone, with a population of 325,000, has $230,000,000. In his last report the Auditor of Pennsylvania says that Pennsylvania's system of taxation works well in the production of revenue. "It has been very generally concluded by outsiders," writes the Auditor, "that a state with a funded debt wholly provided for, with a balance of $10,000,000 and over in its treasury, appropriating $6,000,000 annually to its schools, building a $4,000,000 capital and giving $3,000,000 to its charitable and benevolent institutions, must have a system of taxation worth imitating." He adds that Pennsylvania "has much to be proud of in this respect and nothing to blush for."

After an exhaustive presentation of his facts, Mr. Robinson drops into these questions and arguments:

"The general property uniform tax has been given a trial of about twelve years. Has it proved satisfactory or successful from any standpoint?"

"Has it resulted in lower rate of taxation on general property or upon any class, either of property or citizens?"

"Has it benefited the Commonwealth, general property interest or any class of either property or citizens?"

"Do not our experience and the plain results show conclusively that important constitutional changes are now necessary?"

"Facts have been given herein which show that we are unduly taxing chief factors for development, as compared with other states—factors which make for Productiveness—Farm Lands and Real Estate, Manufacturers, Business Interests, Capital, Personal Property.

"Plainly, by lack of proper, equitable and fair adjustment of rates on different classes, we fail to obtain full assessment values. Movable property and capital are driven out and repelled if seeking location here. We get less actual revenue; we depreciate values of property. For the sake of a theory, we ignore conditions."

"We attempt to tax movable property yielding small and absolutely limited income, and no opportunity for increased value, and receiving no direct benefits by expenditure of public revenue, for public improvements, at precisely the same rate as other property having some or all of these advantages, as investments."

"We tax all property uniformly, on basis values, without consideration in determining fairness in rate, the income which it yields. This to such an extent that in cases it confiscates practically the major portion of the income, as in case in cities of a 4% investment."

There is no subject more closely related to the welfare of each Kentuckian than this one of taxation, and it should not be allowed "to go to sleep."

TWICE-TOLD TESTIMONY.

Maysville People Are Doing All They Can for Fellow Sufferers.

Maysville testimony has been published to prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills to others in Maysville who suffer from bad backs and kidney ills. Least any sufferer doubt that the cures made by Doan's Kidney Pills are thorough and lasting, we produce confirmed proof—statements from Maysville people saying that the cures they told of years ago were permanent. Here's a Maysville case:

George N. Crawford, blacksmith and wheelwright, at Second and Lee streets, and living at 216 East Lee street, Maysville, Ky., says: "In the spring of 1900 I gave a testimonial telling what Doan's Kidney Pills had done for me, and I am pleased to say I can just as warmly recommend this remedy now as I did then. No other medicine ever gave me such prompt and positive relief from backache and kidney trouble as Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at J. James Wood & Son's drugstore, and I believe them to be by far the best remedy for kidney trouble. Sufferers from such trouble ought to give it a trial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

ALL GOOD THINGS

must win upon their merits. The International Dictionary has won a greater distinction upon its merits and is in more general use than any other work of its kind in the English language.

A. H. Sayce, LL.D., D.D., of Oxford University, England, has recently said of it: "It is indeed a marvelous work: it is difficult to conceive of a dictionary more exhaustive and complete. Everything is in it—not only what we might expect to find in such a work, but also what few of us would ever have thought of looking for."

A supplement to the new edition has brought it fully up to date. I have been looking through the latter with a feeling of astonishment at its completeness, and the amount of labor that has been put into it.
